Contents

Introduction
Bonnie Nelson and Catherine Burroughs

Part I: Historical Contexts

Working in the Theater: Women Playwrights, 1660–1750
Jane Milling

Regendering the Restoration Stage: Women and Theater, 1660–1720
George E. Haggerty

Women Spectators, Playwrights, and Performers and the Restoration Stage
Jacqueline Pearson

Women and Playwriting, 1750–1800
Catherine Burroughs

Part II: Individual Playwrights

Aphra Behn in the Contemporary Theater
Nancy Copeland

Mary Pix, the London Middle Class, and Progressive Whig Ideology
Elizabeth Kubek

Embodying Centlivre’s Comic Vision: A Bold Stroke and The Wonder in the Classroom
Misty G. Anderson

Performance and Philosophy in the Work of Catharine Trotter Cockburn
Roxanne Kent-Drury

The Other Elizabeth Griffith
Betty Rizzo

Frances Sheridan: A Case Study for Mid-Eighteenth-Century Comedy
Cami D. Agan

Hannah More’s Reformation of Romantic Theater
Patricia Demers

Hannah Cowley, Gender Identity, and A Bold Stroke for a Husband
Betsy Bolton

To Write with Authority: Elizabeth Inchbald’s Prefaces to The British Theatre
Nora Nachumi

Joanna Baillie and the Theme of Trial
Victoria Myers

Part III: The Playwright-Novelist

Frances Brooke’s The Excursion and Eighteenth-Century Women’s Theater
Michelle Ruggaber Dougherty

“The Stage Not Answering My Expectations”: The Case of Eliza Haywood
Catherine Ingrassia

Teaching Evelina as a Dramatic Text
Francesca Saggini

Class, Gender, and Inheritance in Burney’s A Busy Day and The Woman-Hater
Gillian Skinner

Elizabeth Inchbald’s Revolutionary Writings
Anna Lott

Part IV: Comparative Approaches

Gender, Race, and Party Politics in the Tragedies of Behn, Pix, and Manley
Pilar Cuder-Domínguez
Disguise, Fantasy, and Misrecognition in The Belle’s Stratagem and Fantomina
Tassie Gwilliam
275

Comparing Early and Late Plays
Kathleen Leicht
285

She Stoops to Stratagem: A Comparative Approach to Eighteenth-Century Comedy
Emily Hodgson Anderson
293

Part V: Classroom Strategies

Using Production to Teach Women Playwrights
Marie E. McAllister
305

Cultural Studies in the Classroom: Behn’s The Rover
Laura J. Rosenthal
315

Performance Theory: Attending to the Monkey Wrench in Centlivre’s The Busy Body
Ellen MacKay
325

Pre- and Postrealist Dramaturgy: Women Writers, Silence, Speech, and Trauma
Thomas C. Crochunis
336

Contexts for Teaching Margaret Cavendish’s Bell in Campo
Vimala C. Pasupathi
348

To Whom Does the New World Belong? Teaching Behn’s The Widow Ranter
Cynthia Richards
356

Teaching Behn’s The Rover
Anita Pacheco
364

Centlivre and the Stage Sodomite
Melinda C. Finberg
373

On Using Thelma and Louise to Teach Centlivre’s The Wonder
Jones DeRitter
382

Teaching Burney’s The Witlings
Marjean D. Purinton
390
Scarcity and Surplus: Teaching Inchbald’s Every One Has His Fault 398
Daniel O’Quinn

Imagining a Course: Teaching Women Dramatists 409
Jean I. Marsden

Notes on Contributors 419
Works Cited 425
Index 459